Publish Date: February 5, 2026

Chang Wah Technology (CWTC, TWSE: 6548) announced today that its consolidated revenue for January reached NT$1.201 billion. This represents a 0.19% increase from the previous month and a 13.8% rise compared with the same period last year, marking the highest single-month level in nearly 40 months and the second-highest for the same period in the company's history.

CWTC quarterly revenue has shown steady growth since first quarter of 2024, rising for seven consecutive quarters. Looking ahead to the first quarter, although the number of working days will be lower, however solid customer order visibility is expected to support shipment momentum and maintain QoQ growth, with the possibility of challenging a new record high for quarterly revenue.
